

What is happening to the "free-market"? Are the public radio conglomerates unable to compete in the market without unnecessary and unfair intervention? FCC licenses have been granted to all parties (satelite, public and commercial radio) now let them compete amongst themselves to provide the best possible services to the public that chooses to listen to them without further government intervention! We need freedom of choice.

Respectfully

Chris Marsh